State Law Lets Phillips Issue Bond For Repairs

By Frank Messina

For over 200 years, Phillips Academy has offered a window of promise for its students, handing them the tools to create their own opportunities in the world.

Last week, the prep school showed it wasn't shy about seizing the moment itself, as PA took advantage of a new state law and program to sell a $12 million bond for badly needed campus renovations.

"It's a real opportunity that came along at an ideal time," said Neil Cullen, PA chief financial officer.

After passing a law last year permitting secondary schools to issue bonds, the state went a step further, creating a program that recruited finance heavyweights like Prudential-Bache and National Westminster Bank to back schools too small to float a bond on their own.

With National Westminster guaranteeing the bond, PA drew a highly desirable Aaa rating from Moody's Investor Services and quickly sold out the entire $12 million issue.

Mr. Cullen credits the school's $170 million endowment fund, 500 acres of land, lack of debt and good payment record with qualifying PA for the program. Although backed by a bank, PA has the financial responsibility to pay back the bond over 30 years.

Administered by the state Massachusetts Industrial Finance Agency, the program was developed to encourage use of tax-free bonds to generate employment and tax revenue in the commonwealth.

"It was an opportunity that was out there, and we took advantage of it," said Mr. Cullen.

The $12 million, which must be used within three years, will go to long-overdue capital improvement projects. In addition to the bond revenue, another $13 million will be spent over 10 years by PA on campus repairs.

The school plans to renovate historic buildings on campus, refurbish dormitories and teacher's quarters. Some $4 million will be spent to upgrade PA's electrical system, which can run independent of Mass. Electric, and improve the heating system.

"It's not very glamorous stuff," said Mr. Cullen with a smile, "but it's very important if we have a cold winter."

Despite its generous endowment fund, maintaining 180 buildings spread over 500 acres can be overwhelming, said Mr. Cullen. With the school only able to draw on 5 percent of the fund annually, maintenance has taken a back seat to education in recent years, he said.

In both 1989 and 1990's projected budget, PA will operate without a surplus for the first time in several years.

Without the MIFA program, "we would have looked at the bond issue, but we probably wouldn't have done it," he said. Renovation would have been planned, "but we would be doing less of the same kind of thing. Like many other types of non-profit organizations, we deferred (maintenance) to be able to do the important things—like educating students."

Andover's First Bluebird In 20 Years

By Melissa M. De Meo

Sialia sialis doesn't sound like something you would welcome to town, but a group of Andover residents couldn't be happier that it's back.

The bluebird was spotted on the grounds of Phillips Academy for the first time in 20 years last month. And Marc Koolen is delighted.

Mr. Koolen, a Phillips biology instructor, leads the PA Ornithological Society, which started putting up bluebird nesting boxes last fall to coax the once-common songbird back into town.

Two adults moved into the last of the 78 nesting boxes the bluebird-lovers put up. Mr. Koolen built the boxes himself, and they are tailor-made for the bluebird.

Ideally, the boxes should be

Concert Series Starts Friday

By Melissa M. De Meo

Classical music is for everyone, whether you're a die-hard Pops fan or even if you think Ravel is something that happens to frayed material.

The public will get a chance to see—and listen—for itself starting tomorrow evening when a chamber music series gets its start at the newly renovated Old Town Hall.

"What we're trying to do with these concerts is bridge a gap," said William Thomas, chairman of the music department at Phillips Academy, which is co-sponsoring the series with the Andover Historical Society. "We're trying to reach out to people who are very knowledgeable concert-goers by providing truly excellent performances of great works.

Former College Star Named AHS Basketball Coach

By Rick Harrison

The search for a new boys' varsity basketball coach at Andover High School ended last week with the appointment of former Central Catholic High School and Salem State College star Dave Fazio.

The 25-year-old Fazio, who spent the past two winters directing the fortunes of the Dracut High boys' varsity, succeeds Tom Ryser, who resigned in late spring.

Ryser held the position for six successful years (86 wins) after replacing current AHS Principal Wilbur Hixon, whose extensive coaching career spanned more than two decades and produced over 300 victories and one state championship.

Seven candidates originally applied for the vacated Andover job, and the field was trimmed to three before the interviews became more intensive and Fazio was selected.

Andover High officials did not want to get into a listing of applicants, but indicated media speculation in recent weeks led to the publication of names of several people who never expressed a formal interest in the job.

"Our recommendation (of Fazio) has been taken to the superintendent and must go through the School Committee," said AHS athletic director Jim Hurley. "Dave Fazio is our candidate, and I don't expect any problems in formalizing his appointment."

Fazio, who played on several championship teams at Central Catholic with the likes of Tim Hart, Leo Parent and Bobby Licare, was always a big-game player. He saved his best performances for the toughest games, and assuming he coaches like he plays, it appears Andover has hired itself another winner.

The recently married Lawrence resident was a three-year captain at Salem State, and while playing for the Vikings his name appeared regularly among the Massachusetts State College Athletic Conference statistical leaders in scoring, assists and field goal and free throw percentages.

"David comes to us with experience and knowledge beyond his years," said Hurley. "He has an excellent background both as a player and coach, graduating from two outstanding basketball programs at Central and Salem State."

"He had great interviews with both myself and Wil Hixon. We were impressed with David both as a good coach and a good person."

In augmenting that last statement, Hurley noted that when Fazio's mother passed away several years ago he petitioned to become his younger brother's legal guardian.

"From all I understand he kept a close watch over his brother, and that tells us a lot about David's character," said the athletic director.

Fazio's first coaching assignment at Dracut involved working with one of the state's least successful hoop programs.

Dracut has been a Merrimack Valley Conference basketball doormat for years.

"It's one of the toughest places to coach basketball in Massachusetts," said Hurley, "and that's why people shouldn't judge David on his record there. It's not indicative of the job he did."

"More important to us was the respect Dracut officials showed for him. He got their elementary school program moving, laid the groundwork and did a lot for the community."

"For two years he's worked with many of the Dracut players who'll be seniors next year, and it was tough for him to leave them," said Hurley.

Fazio took care of that painful task last Friday when he met with the returning Dracut players for the final time.

Now he is at the opposite end of the spectrum, inheriting a highly successful program that is accustomed to producing a winner year after year after year.

Bluebirds

placed in a southerly direction, about 3 to 6 feet above ground to discourage house sparrows, which prefer higher nest sites, Mr. Koolen said. Three swallow pairs and a few house wrens have also made homes of the boxes. "We're not thrilled," Mr. Koolen said.

The real stars of the show are the brightly colored bluebirds. The upper body is blue, the throat and breast red and the lower abdomen white. "They look like flags," Mr. Koolen said.

The bluebird is smaller than its cousin, the robin, and bigger than a sparrow.

A Phillips student said he thought he saw a blue-colored bird in the area, and sure enough, it turned out to be a bluebird. Mr. Koolen watched the birds busily getting ready for their four eggs to hatch, which takes about two weeks.

They usually return to their original nesting sites, so the Ornithological Society is hoping the birds that hatched at PA will be back again next year. Mr. Koolen suspects their parents were forced out of their own birthplace nests.

Competition from more aggressive species and fewer desirable nesting sites have led to the decline of the eastern bluebird, which prefers open fields, orchards and fence rows, Mr. Koolen said. Nobody knows exactly when the last Andover bluebird was sighted, but it was about two decades ago.

The work of his group has paid off. "We were very surprised it happened," he said.

TOWN HOUSE TOPICS

DCS Proposes Kids' Clubs

Joan Pearson, director of the town's Department of Community Services, will make a proposal before the Andover School Committee Tuesday, July 11, to get permission for an elementary school pilot program.

Ms. Pearson wants to start an activity called Kids' Clubs in one or two elementary schools.

KICS is designed to offer enrichment to children in grades one through five before and after school hours. In cooperation with the elementary school principals, KICS will use available school space to provide educational and recreational opportunities for the children.

Applications Available For Upcoming Art In The Park

Artists may pick up applications for Andover Art in the Park at the Department of Community Services office on Bartlet Street or write to Andover Art in the Park, 331 Salem St., Andover.

Categories for entry are watercolors, oils, acrylics, pastels, graphics and drawings, photography and sculpture. Crafts are not included. The entry fee is $30 for members, $34 for non-members.

The 15th annual fine art exhibit and sale, jointly sponsored by the Andovers Artists Guild and DCS, will be held Saturday, Sept. 16, in the Park.

An American Tail

The Department of Community Services family movie program in the Park continues with An American Tail on Monday, July 10.

This animated feature film produced by Steven Spielberg relates the story of a mouse family that finds its way to a new world. Washing up on American shores in a bottle, young Feivel, the mouse, is determined to find his relatives and be reunited in the New World, but he first must contend with the challenges and chances represented by New York City during the late 1800s. The film will begin at dusk and run for 80 minutes. The movies will be shown on Tuesday if it rains on Monday. The movie program is funded in part by local businesses and individuals. Donations are being accepted at the town office. Walt Disney's Cinderella will be shown July 17.

Rockabilly Concert

The DCS concerts in the Park series continues on Wednesday, July 12, with the

Appointed Manager

William C. Brouillard has been elected senior vice president by the management committee of Alexander & Alexander, Inc. He has also been promoted to production manager, according to Donald M. Murray, COO and managing vice president of the Boston office.

Mr. Brouillard is responsible for overseeing the production department and acquiring new business development. He joined Alexander & Alexander, Inc. in 1986 as a producer.

Mr. Brouillard is a 1974 graduate of Brandeis University. He received master's degrees in marketing and insurance from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Brouillard resides in Andover with his wife, Janice, and their son, Christopher, and daughter, Elyse.

Honors

Andover residents named to the honor roll at St. Mary High School, Lawrence for the fourth quarter included Sarah McLarney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius J. McLarney, 23 Kirkland Drive, principal's list, no grade below A and Jennifer B. Pritts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald L. Pritts, first honors, no grade below B-plus.

return of the Rockabilly Brothers, a combination of 50's-style popular rock music and country music.

The band performs in pegged pants and pompadours and plays Elvis Presley, Buddy Holly, Carl Perkins and Jerry Lee Lewis numbers. Band leader and vocalist Tom Hurley trades his hairstyle for a western hat for serious country music numbers. He said that while he isn't old enough to have been a real rocker of the '50s, he still carries pictures of himself when, at age 6, he had a DA haircut and talked like Elvis.

Mr. Hurley travels into the audience with his wireless electric guitar and makes it difficult to ignore the beat. The concert begins at 6:30 p.m. in front of the bandstand. If it rains, the concert will be held on Thursday.

The remaining concert schedule includes: Purple Stars Sound, July 19; Barbeque Brass Quintet, July 26; Mary Karl Orchestra, Aug. 2; Jazz Band, Aug. 9; Blue Plate Special, Aug. 16; and a Dixieland concert at Pumps Pond on Sunday, July 16, at 1:30 p.m.

Playgrounds

The second session of playground KAMPS begins Monday, July 10. Registration continues at the DCS office for Shee-Hee (ages 3 and 4), Shaw-Nee (ages 5 and 6) and Ha-Kow-Wee (ages 6-12). For further information, contact the DCS office.

Walks

Join the walking class with a walk around the block every Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. Beginners start with 1½-mile walk while those who have a walking regimen are encouraged to walk further. Relax afterwards with your supper while listening to the Park concert at 6:30 p.m.

Honors

Michael S. Dow, son of James and Katherine Dow, Jr. of 38 Hidden Road, has been named to the Merit List at Kenyon College, a private liberal arts college in central Ohio, for the 1988-89 academic year.

Mr. Dow, an English major, completed his freshman year.

Summer Programs For Adults At Y

The Andover-North Andover branch of the Merrimack Valley YMCA is offering fitness programs to high school students and adults this summer.

Aquacises on Tuesday and Thursday from 8:15 a.m. to 9 a.m. or 7:45 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. is a great way to exercise and stay cool. Exercises are done in the shallow end of the pool—no swimming ability is needed.

L.I.F.E.-Low Impact Fitness Exercise, cardiovascular conditioning without the stress of high impact aerobics, meets Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.

Morning Wake-up, for "early birds" who want a freestyle aerobics class to start the day, is offered Tuesday and Thursday from 6:15 a.m. to 7 a.m.

Y's Way to Physical Fitness, a coed class offered Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 6:15 a.m. to 7:15 a.m. or 7:15 p.m. to 8:15 p.m., offers a complete workout, including warm-up, cardiovascular training, muscular strength and endurance exercises and a proper cool-down.

Tummy Toner, a class designed to trim and tone abdominals, hips, thighs and buttocks, are offered Tuesday and Thursday from 7:30 a.m. to 8 a.m. and Monday and Wednesday from 8:15 p.m. to 8:45 p.m.

Freestyle aerobics, for intermediate/advanced participants, meets Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:35 a.m. to 10:35 a.m. or Tuesday, Thursday from 7:15 p.m. to 8:15 p.m. and Saturday from 9:05 a.m. to 10:05 a.m.

A Nautilus fitness center is fully air conditioned and complete with 13 stations, liferower, two biocycles and two bicycle ergometers. Three free trials and summer Nautilus memberships are available.

Suzanne Harte, adult physical director, states, "For the busy man or woman who wants to keep healthy there is no better investment than a membership in the Andover-North Andover YMCA. Regular membership offers full use of the following facilities: 45x75-foot indoor swimming pool, double-sized gymnasium, physical program room, universal weight room, shower and locker rooms."

Registration is ongoing. For further information, contact the Andover-North Andover YMCA, 165 Haverhill St., Andover.

Attended Leadership Conference

Julie Plati, who serves as deputy marshal for Beta Lambda Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta at The College of William and Mary, recently attended Theta's national leadership conference at Ohio State University campus in Columbus, Ohio.

More than 800 women from the United States and Canada attended the biennial event. This year's theme, "Kaleidoscope" provided educational seminars on a variety of subjects to encourage members to reach for higher individual and chapter goals.

Ms. Plati, daughter of Joseph and Roberta Plati, 7 Lancaster Place, Andover will be a junior at William and Mary in the fall. She is a 1987 graduate of Phillips Academy.

Kappa Alpha Theta is the first Greek-letter fraternity for women, established in 1870 at Asbury College, currently known as DePauw University, in Greencastle, Indiana. The fraternity supports 118 college chapters and more than 300 alumnae chapters and clubs with a total membership of 135,000. The educational arm of the fraternity, the Kappa Alpha Theta foundation, annually awards more scholarship dollars than any other Greek organization. The foundation supports the fraternity's philanthropy, CASA: Court Appointed Special Advocates.

Promoted To Senior Vice Pres.

NorthEastern Mortgage Company, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of University Bank, N.A., announces the promotion of Jay S. Weiner to senior vice president. Bancroft: This was a fun week that made a great start to what will be a fantastic summer. Kelly, Chris and Michelle met the campers on Monday. Highlights of the week included bubble day, rock painting (Becky and Richard helped the most during cleanup), dodgeball, capture the flag and kickball games. Thursday was "everybody's birthday." A Yankee swap ended with everybody getting neat presents. The balloons went fast and Evan, Mike and Mark won the pin the tail on the donkey game (thank you for the donkey, Tony).

Sanborn: Christine, Julie and Drew have some really good ideas and fun games. There are about 40 kids, so there's enough to do a bunch of things all at once. Everyone's birthday was celebrated with cake and games and even presents.

South: Playground activities began the first minute and there was not a slow moment thereafter. Counselors Jim, Lee and Rob explained the rules and then hockey games took over. Rocky Tradd and Marc Escott dominated. Zack Smith, John Germain, Craig Edwards and his brother, Marc, controlled the bombardment games. Shira, Shannon and Andrea showed everyone how to properly slam-dunk a basketball. Ian Tsana drew many cars and started everyone drawing. The gimp bracelets were a big hit. Laura Farr, Abbi Hermosa, Erin Collins and Jennifer Aylward were the gimp queens.

West Elementary: The first day of playground started with a meeting of the staff, Beca, Jenn and Ed. Friendship pins were made and other arts and crafts were done and dodge ball was played in the gym. The highlights of the week included capture the flag, rock sculptures, sponge painting, bead jewelry and gimp. Thursday was "everybody's birthday." Everyone exchanged gifts, played pin the tail on the donkey and balloon stomping. Chris Hoffman proved to be the best balloon stomper, beating out Chris Campos. Chad Mongeau won pin the tail on the donkey, beating out the two close runners-up, George Desmarais and Kristen Delora. A delicious cake ended the day.

On Friday shirts were tie-dyed and Ed did a great job grilling the food.

Shee-Hee/Shaw-Nee: KAMPS Shee-Hee and Shaw-Nee got off to a great start. Pom-pom pictures, butterflies, rainbow ornaments and macaroni art were created. Alyssa Rosenblatt, Diana Finegold, Hadass Blank and Daniel Mullen made terrific butterflies. Colorful pom-pom pictures made by the Shaw-Nees were specially enjoyed by Daniel Cote and Richard LaFranchi while the Shee-Hees made rainbow ornaments. Some really artistic ornaments were made by Sang Hyun Leek and Carolyn Johnson. Pin the tail on the dinosaur was played on "everyone's birthday day" Mathew Abrams and Elaine Lin got their tails the closest. Follow the leader, witch in the forest and duck-duck-goose were enjoyed by all. Michael Connerty organized a great game of kickball with help from volunteer Mark Van Doren.

Ha-Kow-Wee: Adam Caterino, Tara Locke and Joshua Desjardins were among the campers who enjoyed arts and crafts activities. David Ellsworth, Kristin Wilson and Chris Costell were the stand-out players in dodgeball. Silhouettes and banners were made with K.C. Costello adding a new twist to the art. Swimming, beach fun and spud rounded out the first day's activities. Tuesday was filled with collages, basketball, nature walks, drawing, reading and story-telling. In the middle of the week Stephanie Buck, Shaun Flynn, Tadashi and Nobora Tsukuda, Michael Burton and Jeff Irving played a kickball game. Collages, painting and rock sculptures were made by Stephanie Ciampa, Robin Hall, Jeff Hall, Lindsey Pearson and Kel O'Neill. Duck-duck-goose, bead jewelry, bumper stickers and dead dog were enjoyed on Thursday and tie-dyeing and the weekly cookout were the highlights of Friday.

To Head Community Relations

Richard F. Barney

William J. Ryan, president, Bank of New England-North, announced the appointment of Richard F. Barney to head the community relations and business development activity of the bank in the Greater Lawrence area. Mr. Barney has served as vice president-marketing since joining the bank in 1980.

In announcing this appointment, Mr. Ryan stated, "Dick has played a long and significant role for the bank through his association with business and community activities in the Greater Lawrence and Greater Lowell regions."

Honored

John Pakstis of Lincoln Street, Andover, was honored by Northeastern University in recognition of five years of service at the university's third annual President's Recognition Dinner held at Boston's Westin Hotel.

Mr. Pakstis works in the counseling and testing center.

Long active in the Merrimack Valley United Fund, Mr. Barney served as chairman of the Greater Lowell United Fund drive in 1985. In 1986 he served as campaign chairman for the entire Merrimack Valley and serves on the United Fund's board of directors.

He has been active in the chambers of commerce in Greater Lawrence and Northern Middlesex County where he served five years as vice chairman for economic development.

Mr. Barney's other activities have included serving as director of the Greater Lawrence Community Boating Program, Merrimack Valley Goodwill Industries and St. John's Hospital Men's Guild, Inc., charter president of the Andover Junior Chamber Commerce and member of the Andover Lions Club and Holy Family Hospital Men's Guild.

"Dick is a valued member of the bank's management team," said Mr. Ryan, "and his continued presence in the Greater Lawrence region marks a further statement of Bank of New England-North's commitment to northeastern Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire. As in the past, Dick will play an important role in the bank's continuing growth in all of the communities we serve. Dick's office is located at the bank's newly renovated facility at 238 Essex St., in downtown Lawrence."

On Dean's List

Thomas P. Graham, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Graham, Sr., 11 Blueberry Circle, Andover, is a recipient of the dean's award for academic excellence during the spring term at Colgate University where he is a member of the class of 1992.

Mr. Graham, a 1987 graduate of Deerfield Academy, is concentrating in economics.

A Colgate student must achieve a 3.30 or higher average while carrying a full course load to be eligible for the dean's award.

Workshop Aimed At Assisting Ipswich River Water Users

The state's Department of Environmental Quality Engineering will conduct a second workshop to help large water users in the Ipswich and North Coastal river basins apply for permits required under the Massachusetts Water Management Act.

Andover is partially located in these river basins.

"This will be a follow-up to the first workshop we held in Beverly back in April," said Andrew Gottlieb, DEQE program manager of the Water Management Act. "This time we will be giving potential applicants step-by-step instructions on filing for their permits."

The workshop will be held at the Salem-Beverly Water Board, 50 Arlington Ave. in Beverly, Thursday, July 27, from 2 to 5 p.m.

Public water suppliers, golf courses, farm industries and all others who withdraw or plan to withdraw by spring 1991, on average, more than 100,000 gallons of water per day and have not already registered with the state, or want to withdraw more than 100,000 gpd over their registered volume, must apply for permits by

Aug. 31.

Large water users are currently registered to withdraw more than 65 million gallons of water per day from the two basins, according to information compiled by DEQE.

The Ipswich and North Coastal basins are the latest areas subject to permitting under the 1985 act, which gives DEQE a significant management and planning tool for ensuring adequate ground and surface water levels into the next century.

Regulations adopted last year set criteria for issuing these permits. Using those guidelines, DEQE will review water use data to determine whether the resource can safely meet the expected demand, Mr. Gottlieb said.

Other factors to be considered include impact on shared hydrologic systems, seasonal variations in supply and demand and conservation steps taken by each user.

If you need more information contact the Water Management Act staff at DEQE's division of water supply in Boston.

Efficiency Is Goal Of Workshops By United Fund

The United Fund is helping non-profit organizations work more efficiently.

The Fund held the second workshop, Operational Strategies for Boards, of its BoardWALK series June 14. Jane Behlke, executive director of the Swift Water Girl Scout Council, was the facilitator for both the morning and evening sessions, while Karen Carpenter, president of BayBank in Andover, is chairman of the program.

The workshops are designed to improve the effectiveness of voluntary organizations by training community leaders to be voluntary board members and defining the roles and managerial capabilities of an organization's volunteers and staff, said Tracey Dewhurst, public relations director of the United Fund. Ms. Dewhurst added that another goal of the workshop is to "enhance the volunteer's understanding of community environment, systems and resources."

The morning sessions was attended by 11 people, including Joslyn Converse, executive director of the Lawrence YMCA; Margaret Serley, executive director of the Samaritans of the Merrimack Valley and former West Junior High School teacher; and Major Norma E. Higbee, executive director of the Lawrence Salvation Army.

The 10 participants in the evening session included Carolyn Rockwell, Samaritans board member, and Katherine Teplitz, president of the Lawrence YMCA.

AFS Club Makes Trip

The American Field Service Club at Andover High School ended its year's activities with a trip to Montreal, Canada.

Club members were accompanied by Bill Kolbe, the club's adviser.

A highlight of the trip was an unexpected compliment from a Canadian. When the group went to pay the bill after dinner in a small cafe, they found it had already been taken care of. Mr. Kolbe was told that a guest at a nearby table "was so impressed with the behavior of the visiting American teenagers that he wished to treat them to dinner."

Heading up the past year's slate of officers were Barbara Burke, president; Paromita Shah, secretary; Elaine O'Brien, vice president; and Tricia

Kyle Blais will spend the summer in New Zealand. Laura Brink will travel to Finland for two months. Amy Climo will be off to France. Simone McBean will live with a family in Denmark and Barbara Burke will be off to Norway in August for the year-long program.

The new AFS club officers are Matthew Waugh, president; Gary Rollins, vice president; Eve LaRochelle, secretary; and Elaine O'Brien, treasurer.

Wahr, treasurer.

It was announced at the end-of-the-year AFS picnic that Andover students will spend from two months to a year studying and living overseas, thanks to the AFS International Cultural Exchange Program.

Host Families Needed

Fifteen teenagers from Spain will arrive in the Andover, Methuen and North Andover area on Wednesday to spend a month in America as part of an international exchange program, but homes are still needed for a teenage girl and boy.

Hosting a student involves providing meals and a bed for a 16-to-19-year-old teenager, says Gale Feeney, coordinator for the program.

Ms. Feeney, a teacher in the Methuen school system, will take the teenagers on several trips and activities each week. Trips will include day trips to Boston and local attractions.

The exchange program has been in existence for ten years on the west coast, according to Ms. Feeney, but was organized in this area only recently.

"A tremendous bond forms; it's the basis for real international friendships," she said.

Any family interested in hosting a student or who needs further information should contact Ms. Feeney.

Interpreter Describes Forest Programs

By Amy Marquis

"Hi, folks. Welcome to Harold Parker State Forest. My name is Amy, and I'm the park interpreter."

"Excuse me, Amy, but what do you mean 'interpreter'? Do you, like, interpret for foreigners or something?"

Ah, question of the day! What is a park interpreter? What does a park interpreter do? What good is one to your life?

A park interpreter is basically the park's naturalist. I know, because I'm the park interpreter at Harold Parker State Forest. I like to think of myself as an "interpreter of nature." Nice, isn't it?

So, what do I do? Well, every week I plan programs so the public can explore various parts of the forest and aspects of its ecology. My programs range from informal walks for adults to structured, fun activities for youngsters. I love to get out and experience the forest, and I love to share my discoveries. There's so much happening here at Harold Parker State Forest. You don't want to miss a minute of it.

It's truly the ideal getaway. Escape the city and suburbs this summer in acres of towering pines whose deep, rich, earthy aroma engulfs the visitor in a world where time seems to stop. The flutter of a chickadee and the chatter of a red squirrel are the only "interruptions."

Harold Parker is an area of rolling hills, picturesque rock outcrops and cool ponds. Fishing, swimming, camping, hiking and relaxing are the favorite activities here. Being part of a glowing red sunset over one of Harold Parker's 11 ponds is an experience to calm anyone's soul. Make a trip to Harold Parker part of your weekly schedule.

I'm open to suggestions or special requests. If you have questions, I can be reached in the Harold Parker campground office.

The forest will host a number of activities this summer. All programs are free and open to the public.

Children under 9 must be accompanied by an adult, and don't forget the bug spray.

Friday

8 p.m. Sunset stroll. Participants will walk to Field

Pond to watch the sun set and see some wildlife. About an hour

Saturday

2 p.m. "Water, Water Everywhere." A weekly event about a precious resource. Join Amy Marquis, Harold Parker State Forest interpreter, for some fun, hands-on activities about the water cycle. About an hour.

8:30 Night walk. As the sun sets, much of the forest is just getting up. Flashlights are prohibited. Meet at the camp office. About an hour.

Sunday

9 a.m. "Rise 'n' Shine." Join Ms. Marquis each week as she observes all the morning activity. Today, she'll be hiking around Collins and Bracket ponds. Meet at the Collins Pond entrance; there will be a sign on Harold Parker Road. About 45 minutes.

11 Sunday morning stroll. A weekly walk for everyone. Today's activity will explore Bradford Pond. Meet at the park headquarters on Middleton Road. About an hour and a half.

Tuesday

2 Young Explorers. A weekly event for fourth-through sixth-graders. This week participants will explore the world of elves and hobbits. Meet at the camp office. About an hour.

Discovery Series Set At Lowell Arts Center

The Center for the Arts at the University of Lowell announced the schedule for the 1989-90 children's Discovery Series.

Designed for children ages 4 to 10, the Discovery Series presents theatre, mime, music and dance in four Sunday afternoon programs. Last year the center added a second performance of each event to meet the demand; this year the series has been expanded with the addition of two special events.

The much-loved musical duo Rosenshontz, who perform zany original songs about everyday family issues, from a doo wop about eating vegetables to a rap about bedtime excuses, opens the series Sept. 24.

The New York Theatre Ballet presents a special one-hour version of the Nutcracker Dec. 10 with a simple narration for young audiences. This production, featuring highlights of Act II, takes the audience through the landscape of Clara's Christmas Eve dream to the world of the Mouse King, Nutcracker and Sugar Plum Fairy.

"The Wright Brothers in Concert" presents a show on Feb. 4 about the antics of five comically-mischievous maintenance workers who turn worktime into playtime and anytime into zany time.

The Prince Street Players will present an original music adaptation of The Wizard of Oz on April 29.

The first special event is a performance of Peter and the Wolf on Nov. 12. This program combines the one-of-a-kind narrative talents of mime/storyteller David Zucker with the flair of the 60-piece Indian Hill Symphony Orchestra. The orchestra will round out the 60-minute program by performing short works that introduce the audience to instruments in the orchestra and the wonderful good fun of music.

The second special event is "Songs from Sesame Street with Maria and Luis" on March 4. The audience will have the opportunity to sing along with two of the most popular characters from the most widely-viewed children's television series in the world. Maria and Luis will present 60 minutes of Sesame Street's most popular songs.

There are two performances of each event, at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. All performances run approximately one hour and take place in Durgin Hall at the corner of Wilder and Pawtucket Streets on the university's south campus. The theatre is hand-lapped-accessible and free parking is nearby.

For further information, to request a brochure or order tickets by phone with Mastercard/Visa, call the center between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Handel And Hayden Society To Present Summer Series

Handel & Haydn Society's new summer series will include three period instrument concerts on Tuesday evenings at 7 p.m. at Boston's air-conditioned Tremont Temple, 88 Tremont St.

The Handel & Haydn Society, which uses period and modern instruments, offers a series of concerts at Symphony Hall and chamber concerts at smaller venues. H&H hopes the new series will provide greater opportunities for members of the orchestra to perform in chamber programs. The expansion also represents an effort on the part of H&H to offer more period instrument concerts.

The first concert on July 18 will feature the works of Johann Sebastian Bach. Bach's Concerto in C Major for Two Harpsichords, Concerto in C Minor for Two Harpsichords, Flute Suite in B Minor and Brandenburg Concerto No. 5 will be performed. James David Christie and John Finney, harpsichords, and Ardal

Powell, flute, will be soloists.

The July 25 concert will feature a program of Italian baroque works, including two concertos from Vivaldi's "L'estro armonico," Albinoni's Concerto for Oboe in D Minor with oboist Stephen Hammer and Alessandro Scarlatti's cantata "Su le sponde del Tevere" with soprano Sharon Baker.

The series will conclude Aug. 1 with an all-Mozart program, including "Eine kleine Nachtmusik" Piano Quartet in G Minor and two flute quartets with Ardal Powell as soloist.

Subscriptions can be purchased by calling H&H or at the H&H box office, 295 Huntington Avenue, Monday through Friday between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

An all-Bach concert will be presented July 11 at the First Congregational Church, 62 Centre St., in Nantucket at 8:30 p.m. and at the J.F.K. Park on Main Street in Fall River on July 13 at 7:30 p.m.

Summer Concert Series Planned For Market Mills

The chambers of commerce and industry and the Northern Middlesex Convention and Visitors Bureau unveiled the lineup for its Market Mills summer concert series. The free, seven-week program will feature a different act each Thursday at 7:30 p.m. on the Market Street stage in historic downtown Lowell.

"Based on our past experience, these free performances will draw thousands of families from the region into downtown Lowell," said Michelle L. Hatem, executive director of the Northern Middlesex Convention and Visitors Bureau. "People will be able to enjoy this entertainment in the setting of historic Market Mills."

The summer lineup will include the Polka Family Band, Cambodian-Lao Dance Festival and Herb Reed and the Platters.

Robin Right & Right Country will kick off the series on July 13. Robin was recently named country music entertainer of the year in Massachusetts.

Funding for the series is made possible by the contributions of chambers' members and in part by the Massachusetts Arts Lottery Council as administered by the Lowell Arts Council and the Massachusetts Office of Travel and Tourism.

Entertainment Continues At Bradford

The Bradford House in Bradford is hosting live dinner entertainment Tuesday through Thursday evening July 11-27. Two 45-minute sets begin at 7:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

The Boston Conservatory Show Mates, a group of six graduates and professors from the Conservatory, sing and play a revue of popular Broadway tunes with drum and piano accompaniment. "The performers dance and act out the songs right in the dining room," comments Susanna Tolini, general manager of the Bradford House. "It's almost as though you're watching a musical while you dine."

"People who have seen them before will come in for the show because they're so good," she says, "and there really is nothing else like this around."

The show opened May 23 and has been so successful that the Bradford House has extended their engagement six weeks beyond the original contract.

The Bradford House, which opened last year on the grounds of the Bradford Country Club, features contemporary American cuisine in the atmosphere of a restored country barn.

Outdoor Concert

Northern Lights will perform Wednesday, July 19, at 7:30 p.m. on the outdoor concert green at Heritage Plantation of Sandwich.

The group successfully blends modern jazz, folk, country and rock with additional bluegrass and gospel music in a diverse repertoire of instrumentals vocals featuring high, close harmonies. Many of their original numbers are featured on their latest release "On the Edge," which is receiving effusive critical acclaim.

"If ever there was a supercharged, rip-it-up contemporary group, this band is it," wrote the reviewer for the Southern Bluegrass News. "I would easily put Northern Lights in the same company with the great contemporary groups like Skyline and New Grass Revival."

Formed in 1975, Northern Lights is receiving national attention after a stunning appearance at the International Bluegrass Music Festival.

Directory Helps Women Get Together

At left, members of the Ladies Benevolent Society, the oldest organized women's group in the country, watch a cooking demonstration.

Women getting together is an age-old tradition. From ladies' guilds and coffee klatches to consciousness-raising groups and professional organizations, women have always gotten together to explore common interests, to help other people or simply to chat and support one another. The North Shore Woman Directory salutes these women in its fourth edition.

The directory, an annual guide for women to the best of the North Shore, this year highlights such diverse groups as the Bewitching Stitchers of Beverly, a local chapter of the Smocking Arts

Guild of America, the Ladies Benevolent Society of Phillips Academy, the Marblehead Recycling Committee and the Cape Ann Breakfast Club, a group that sometimes refers to itself as "the group for women who don't like groups."

Couple Plans August Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Charpentier of Manchester, N.H., announce the engagement of their daughter, Nicole, to John C. Breckinridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Breckinridge of 23 Wild Rose Drive.

Ms. Charpentier graduated from Central High School in Manchester in 1985 and from St. Anselm College this year. She is a medical/surgical nurse at Catholic Medical Center in Manchester.

Mr. Breckinridge, also a Manchester resident, is a 1982 Andover High School graduate. He graduated from St. Anselm in '86 and is a Manchester police officer. The couple is planning an Aug. 26 wedding.

Directory

publishers, Andrea MacLeod, Sandie Horwitz and Wendy Goldhirsh, were impressed by the number of women today who still make time to get together even though so many of them are working outside the home. Some of the women get together for the purpose of helping others, according to the publishers, while other groups simply meet regularly for intellectual support, networking and socializing.

One of the groups listed in the directory is the Ladies Benevolent Society of Phillips Academy, the oldest organized women's group in the United States. Founded in 1831 as a ladies' reading association, members were once warned to serve "only tea, bread and butter and one kind of cake...gingerbread..."

Today, the society hosts a major arts and crafts festival, publishes a directory and a cookbook, raises funds and runs many outreach programs. Various food groups cook and serve at a local soup kitchen and prepare meals for community residents who are ill.

"We feel that this group typifies the spirit of the North Shore woman," Ms. Goldhirsh said. "And it's these kinds of women that the directory serves."

This year's, the directory, a compendium of recommended good and services in 29 North Shore communities, has created its own version of an '80s women's group, "the Inner Circle."

The Inner Circle is an information/shopping club that offers its members discounts at many North Shore businesses as well as special events, lectures and workshops throughout the year, Ms. Horwitz said. "Many women have told us they'd like to meet new people and learn something at the same time," she said. "That's why we're planning these workshops and lectures on a variety of interesting subjects."

Topics will focus on health, education, fashion and money. "We'll explore everything from choosing the right school for your child to planning an exotic trip for your 40th birthday to making yourself beautiful on a budget," Ms. MacLeod said.

To join the Inner Circle or to receive a copy of the 1989 North Shore Woman Directory, send $5 to North Shore Woman Inc., 11 Beach St., Suite 5, Manchester, Mass. 01944.

How To Make An Announcement

Wedding and engagement announcement forms may be picked up at The TOWNSMAN offices, 89 N. Main St.

They must be typed or printed clearly and accompanied by a telephone number.

Pictures, preferably black and white, are welcomed. They may be picked up after publication. Engagement photos must be of the woman only. Photos of the couple may be used with wedding announcements.

There is no cost for either engagement or wedding announcements. The TOWNSMAN prints these announcements when space is available.

La Leche League To Meet Next Week

The Andover group of La Leche League of Massachusetts/Vermont will meet at the home of Mary McAvoy, 5 Beeble Terrace, Methuen, on Thursday, July 13, at 8 p.m. to discuss "The Art of Breastfeeding and Overcoming Difficulties." Women from Andover, North Andover, Lawrence and surrounding towns are invited.

The meeting is the third in the current series of four monthly meetings open to nursing mothers (and their babies) and pregnant and other interested women. The discussion is informal with the opportunity to ask questions and share experiences. The group maintains a lending library of books on breastfeeding, childbirth and child care.

La Leche League may be called at any time for immediate help, encouragement and practical suggestions regarding breastfeeding or to obtain "The Womanly Art of Breastfeeding" manual.

For directions and further information, call group leaders Cyndi Givens, Maureen Lyons or Lauri Adlman.

Affordable live-in childcare.

If you think live-in childcare is too expensive, consider an au pair. An EF au pair can actually cost you less than daycare and gives your family the culturally enriching experience of hosting a well-educated, English speaking European.

Selected by our own staff in Europe, EF Foundation au pairs are experienced in childcare, have passed a rigorous screening process, and hold legal U.S. visas.
If you're looking for affordable live-in childcare, call for more in-

Lyme Disease

The Massachusetts Audubon Society suggests that knowing how to avoid contracting Lyme Disease, a disease borne by ticks, is an important safeguard to enjoying summer outings.

The tick responsible for the spread of Lyme Disease is most abundant on Nantucket, Great Island in South Yarmouth, in the Connecticut River Valley and the Ipswich area. Not all deer ticks carry the bacteria that causes the disease. Even if the tick is infected, by removing it promptly, you can avoid getting the disease.

Everyone should be aware of early signs of the disease. In most cases a donut-shaped rash appears that encircles the point where the tick was embedded. This usually occurs within two days to five weeks after the bite. Other symptoms may mimic a flu with chills, headache, dizziness, stiff neck and fatigue. Piecing together where you've been may clue in a physician to the possibi-ty of the symptoms being Lyme Disease rather than a common cold or flu. Here are some tips on how to avoid ticks.

Stay on the trails at favorite walking and hiking spots. Young ticks are found on low vegetation and adult ticks prefer to cling to vegetation about 18 inches off the ground.

Wear light-colored clothing so ticks may be more easily seen.

Wear long pants tucked into socks and long sleeve shirts tucked in at the waist. The use of repellent around the ankles may prevent ticks from crawling up your legs.

A tick needs 12 to 24 hours in order to pass the Lyme Disease spirochete, so prompt removal is important. Carefully check your body for ticks after returning from an excursion into the woods or fields. Larval and nymphal ticks are normally a light brown color, usually the size of a pinhead and resemble a freckle. They are most often found on the thighs, arms and underarms. Remove a tick with tweezers and cleanse the area with an antiseptic.

If you notice a ring-shaped rash or develop symptoms following a tick bite, see a doctor.

FirstLine Home Equity Credit

You can borrow up to 75% of the appraised value of your home, less the balance due on your existing mortgage. The minimum line of credit is $10,000, and the maximum $100,000.

Our rates are reasonable, our terms flexible.

When, and if, you use your FirstLine Credit, the interest rate you'll be charged will be the Prime Rate published in the Wall Street Journal, plus 1½%.

Each month, you can repay as little as 1.75% of the outstanding balance, or a minimum of $25. Of course, if you choose to, you can repay more or even the full balance of your loan with no prepayment penalties. The principal payments will be automatically recredited to your FirstLine account, so they'll be available for use again. And so you'll have an up-to-date record of all your transactions, we'll send you a detailed monthly statement.

Apply for FirstLine today, by stopping by any of First Essex nine convenient locations. Or, if you'd like additional information, just call (508) 681-7500. And talk to First Essex where you always come first.

* Your line of credit, with no fees or closing costs, will be based on the tax assessed value of your home. If you'd like to apply for a higher line, there'll be an appraisal fee.

Where you always come first. .

FirstLine Home Equity Credit is a handy and convenient way to finance major expenses. It provides you with an automatic line of credit you can use to pay for a new kitchen, a college education, debt consolidation, or even a new car.

You're first with FirstLine.

FirstLine can work to your advantage in a number of ways. There are no application or processing fees. * With the new tax laws, it's one of the few consumer loans which may still allow you to qualify for a tax deduction. You can write your own loan whenever you want using your FirstLine checkbook. And once your credit line has been approved, there are no additional forms to fill out, no questions asked, and no bank approvals needed.

Here's how FirstLine works out for you.

If you own your home (1-4 family owner-occupied home or condominium), you may qualify for FirstLine even if it was financed through another bank or mortgage company. And if you already have an equity line somewhere else, it can be easily transferred to First Essex for more convenient one-stop banking.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Childbirth with a minimum of medication is better for you and the baby; it enables you to remain fully conscious for this one-of-a-kind experience. One of the most popular methods today is the Lamaze Method of Prepared Childbirth. Originating in the Soviet Union it was refined by a French obstetrician, Dr. Ferdinand Lamaze, and has become widespread in the U.S. during the past 15 years. The phrase "prepared childbirth" rather than "natural childbirth" is preferred so that mothers will not get the idea they cannot have medication if they require or wish it. If the techniques are followed, however, medication frequently is not needed. Discomfort is overcome by breathing, relaxation, and disassociation techniques.

You will find the furniture to suit your decor at TINY TOTLAND. We carry baby furniture by Simmons, Childcraft, Bassett & Morigeaux. Baby toys...everything from "heaven to seven". Open 9-5:30 Mon & Th. 9-9. Free lay-a-way plan. Over 80 cribs are on display at TINY TOTLAND, 1111 Elm St., Manchester, N.H. Open 9-5:30 Mon. & Th. 9-9. OBITUARIES

C. Lincoln Giles

C. Lincoln Giles, 66, formerly of Andover, died July 4, 1989, at Lawrence General Hospital after he suffered a heart attack at his home in North Andover shortly after midnight.

Mr. Giles was born in Methuen and attended William and Mary College in Virginia. He served with the U.S. Navy during both World War II and the Korean war.

Mr. Giles joined two old houses and turned them into a colonial complex of offices, apartments and retail stores known as Olde Andover Village in the early 1960s, even though experts said it couldn't be done.

He learned building from his father, who had worked in the Lawrence mills in the bobbin shop and built simple homes on the side. When Mr. Giles was a high school senior, he built his first house in Methuen, sold it for $2,500, earned a modest fee and increased his earning by holding a five-year second mortgage on the property.

Besides designing and developing local projects like Indian Ridge Country Club and the Colonial Center, he completed projects all along the east coast. Mr. Giles considered his creativity—his ability to look at a deteriorating building and envision something splendid—a gift from God, said his wife Dorothy.

Mrs. Giles said her husband of three years had a "heart scare" in October and was admitted to a Boston Medical Center. He endured a heart catheterization and doctors determined he could be treated with diet, medication and rest.

Mr. Giles and his son and partner, Richard L. Giles, owned Realty Concepts based in North Andover. Richard Giles said he started going to work with his father, "when I could walk," and that his own son, Joshua, 12, is following in the family tradition. Mr. Giles son said restoring a five-story federal building in Augusta, Maine, and designing a home for a plantation in Georgia were among his favorite projects.

Mr. Giles worked closely with world-renowned sketch artist Jack Frost of Cape Cod when designing a building. "When they designed Olde Andover Village, they'd sit on a bench across the street for hours and work and rework sketches," his son said.

At home, Mr. Giles loved to play with his grandchildren and play the piano, harmonica and saxophone, which he learned to play by ear, said Ann Giles, his daughter-in-law.

He was a member of the Methuen Lions Club and served on the vestry at Christ Episcopal Church. Mr. and Mrs. Giles belonged to St. Andrew Church in Methuen.

Members of his family include his wife, Dorothy M. (Bowser) Giles; a son, Richard L. of North Andover; daughters, Debra Leitch of Londonderry, N.H., and Jannie Giles of Hampstead, N.H.; his mother, Mabel (Smith) Giles of Lowell; a stepson, Joseph Scott of Windham, N.H.; stepdaughters, Cathy Trembley of Methuen and Judy Gassny of Salem, N.H.; sisters, Bernice Axon of Nabasset and Doris Stires of Florida; a brother, Clarence, of Statesboro, Ga.; 12 grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be Friday in St. Andrew Episcopal Church in Methuen at a time to be announced. Burial will be in Ridgewood Cemetery.

Friends may call today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. at Dewhirst and Conte Funeral Home, 17 Third St., North Andover.

George E. Gately

George E. Gately, 70, of Groveland died June 29, 1989, at his home.

Mr. Gately retired in 1982 from AT&T in North Andover. He had previously worked at Davis and Furber Machine Co. in North Andover and 20th Century Bakery in Haverhill.

Mr. Gately kept more than 100 hens and chickens in his backyard for a hobby after retirement. His son, Kevin, said he gave the eggs to his children and grandchildren.

Mr. Gately also enjoyed carpentry, gardening, dancing with his wife and babysitting his grandchildren.

Born in Haverhill, he was a 1938 graduate of Haverhill High School. Mr. Gately was a U.S. Army veteran of World War II.

He attended St. Patrick Church in Groveland.

Members of his family include his wife, Marjorie F. (Cleary) Gately; sons, George E. Gately, Jr. of Georgetown, Thomas J. Gately of Albuquerque, N.M., and Kevin C. Gately of Groveland; a daughter, Susan E. Belfiore of Bradford; sisters, Alice Gillen of Andover, Marie Higgins of Bradford, Ann Teoli of Groveland and Nona Beuvals of Haverhill; brothers, Lawrence E. Gately of Groveland and Richard Gately of Bradford; five grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

A Mass was held at St. Patrick Church. Burial was in Riverview Cemetery.

The free Andover shuttle is available to all residents Monday through Friday from 7:03 a.m. to 6:58 p.m. The new bus routes have expanded to include Doctor's Park on Haverhill Street and Ballardvale. Route maps and schedules are available at the senior center. Both buses stop at the senior center at the same time to provide a convenient point of transfer to get from one part of town to another.

The shuttle bus has a fixed route which means you must walk to a bus stop to use it. The Andover Weebus operates Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. providing door-to-door service to Andover residents age 60 and older and any handicapped resident who has been certified as transportation handicapped by the Merrimack Valley Transit Authority. The Weebus costs 35 cents each way within Andover and $1.50 to Lawrence, North Andover and Methuen. Reservations can be arranged by calling 975-2747 24 hours in advance. All Andover Weebuses are lift-equipped to meet the needs of people in wheelchairs. Be sure to let the dispatcher know when you make your reservation if you use a wheelchair so they can schedule more time for your pickup.

If your handicap limits your ability to get out of the house, Andover has a service called Dial-a-Ride which provides transportation to handicapped residents who need assistance in and out of the home and onto the vehicle. This service is available to residents recuperating from a broken hip who cannot navigate the stairs on their own, younger residents with multiple sclerosis, head injuries or conditions which would render them unable to board a vehicle without assistance.

The cost to residents who enroll with the Dial-a-Ride program is $5 for a typical "chair car" ride from Andover to Lawrence. For more information on this or other transportation programs, call the Council on Aging office at 470-3830.

Participants in the summer lunch program are reminded that reservations must be made by 2 p.m. on the business day preceding the luncheon you plan to attend. Summer lunches are served Monday through Friday through Aug. 25, at 11:45 a.m. and cost 50 cents.

Tickets are on sale for $3 for a Hawaiian Luau on Tuesday, July 18, featuring a Hawaiian-style ham dinner and music with Chet Harnden and his big band sound.

Women, Taxes & Divorce

Recent significant changes in the federal tax laws have affected individual taxpayers, including child, estate, gift, and income tax. THE CARPETED BATHROOM

If the tile on a bathroom floor is in poor condition or it gives a cold feeling in the morning, consider carpeting for the bath. Many people never entertain the idea of carpeting the bathroom because moisture is viewed as such a problem. However, if the installation is left non-permanent around fixtures, the carpeting may be lifted for cleaning. Those carpeting fibers that lend themselves most easily to cleaning are the synthetics. Polypropylene, acrylic, modacrylic, polyester and nylon are not only durable but they resist mildew, moths and moisture as well. Polypropylene, in fact, is the most stain and static resistant of all fibers. Acrylic, modacrylic and polyester look and feel like wool, while nylon has excellent bulk. All are appropriate for bathroom installations.

An incredible selection of custom made draperies, floor coverings, window treatments and accessories are available at GORHAM'S DECORATING CENTER to suit just about every personal taste. Our very talented staff can help you make your ideas and dreams become a reality either in one room or throughout your home. Trombly Awaits Governor's Approval For Bus Funds

By Frank Messina

A $2 million appropriation that meant life or death for many of the state's commuter bus routes into Boston has survived a major battle at the Statehouse.

Last week, on the final day of budget negotiations between the Statehouse and Senate, legislators agreed to subsidize the private bus companies, which transport thousands of commuters daily into Boston.

The appropriation must still be approved by Gov. Michael Dukakis, who has line-item veto power over the budget. Whether he approves the $2 million for buses won't be known until the governor submits the final fiscal budget on July 13—the state-mandated deadline, said a press secretary for Mr. Dukakis.

For that reason, Trombly Commuter Lines president Jim Trombly, whose firm owns the local Merrimack Valley-to-Boston run and depends heavily on the state subsidy, said he hasn't started celebrating yet.

"I don't want to let myself go and feel great when the money could still be crossed out by Gov. Dukakis," said Mr. Trombly.

The $2 million is distributed through the Massachusetts Bay Transit Authority to 11 private bus companies in the state. Trombly's share in 1989-'90 would be $204,000. Without the subsidy, Mr. Trombly, who has owned the firm four months, said he would be forced to drastically reduce service to Boston.

Mr. Trombly received more good news last week when the Department of Public Utilities granted his firm an emergency fare increase that will raise the price of a one-way ticket to Boston from $3 to $3.75 starting July 1. Ten-ride passes will jump from $24 to $30.

When the House in May declared its intention to carve private bus line funding from the budget, the MBTA was forced to cancel Trombly's contract effective June 30.

Recognizing the bus firm would soon be strapped for cash, the DPU has allowed the temporary increase "to ensure continuing bus service for commuters who rely on Trombly. The DPU will allow the rates proposed by Trombly to be in effect while the department conducts rate hearings into the propriety of the charges," read a DPU press release.

"If the rates are found to be excessive, Trombly will be ordered to make refunds to its riders."

No hearings have been scheduled yet, said DPU spokeswoman Merry Duffy.

It has been over eight years since Merrimack Valley bus patrons have seen a price hike.

Mr. Trombly credited Senate Ways and Means Chairman Patricia McGovern (D-Lawrence) with pulling the bus funding through legislative channels.

Her support "has been fantastic," he said.

With Boston spending billions of dollars to overhaul its road system in the 1990s, Sen. McGovern "thought it was a good idea to have this (bus) project" to ease the expected traffic jams during construction, said Ways and Means spokeswoman Joan Fallon.

Andover High student Michelle Messenger demonstrates the proper way to dispose of plastic lunch trays. Ms. Messenger and her biology class helped kick off a recycling program that reduced the number of lunchtime garbage bags from 40 to 6.

Andover High Pupils Start Recycling Plastics

By Lisa A. Boudreau

Science students at Andover High School put some of their classroom learning to the test last month when they participated in a plastics recycling pilot program. Albert Cayot's Biology I class set the pace for the rest of the school by heading up a campaign to go one step beyond the paper recycling drive at the school.

"We already had a newspaper and magazine recycling program at the high school that was very successful," said Mr. Cayot.

The 34 biology students got a little help from Joyce Ringleb, member of the Andover Recycling Committee, and a company in Leominster called Plastics Again. Andover High's recycling drive was the second joint venture for the firm. Three years ago the company began one of the first school and private cooperative pilot programs in the area with the Leominster school system.

Before the plastic recycling at the high school began, the students took a tour of the Plastics Again facility to get a better understanding of the recycling process, said Karen Hilo, Plastic Again's material procurement manager.

"The students realize that recycling is important, and they're doing something about it. This gives them a chance to put textbook learning to practice," she said.

Once the plastic is delivered to the company it is washed and ground simultaneously. The next stop is the drier where the material is heated to an excess of 400 degrees Fahrenheit. From there it is dyed and cut into long, thin spaghetti-like strands. The strands are cooled with water blasts and then cut into pellets that can be sold to the plastics manufacturing industry.

Subdivision Neighbors Concerned About Possible Flooding

By Frank Messina

The Planning Board got a chance to review long-delayed plans for the Bruk-Dearborn subdivision last week.

After being set aside several times while waiting for a drainage report, neighbors of the four-lot project, located near Summer and Elm streets, finally got their chance to speak before the board.

Most of their concerns centered on potential flooding caused by construction of the subdivision. Residents in the area already contend with flooding problems during heavy rainfall.

ZBA To Rehear Heliport Proposal

By Frank Messina

A mailing list error will send a heliport application back to the the Zoning Board of Appeals tonight.

After last month's ZBA meeting, at least two abutters of Mast Industries Inc. property, where the heliport is proposed, called town hall claiming they didn't receive notification of the hearing.

Town officials scheduled a rehearing on the application, giving neighbors a chance to speak on the issue.

The ZBA hasn't made a decision on the permit, but it is expected to take a vote at Saturday's deliberation hearing.

The women's clothing manufacturer is looking for a special permit to operate a heliport in West Andover near the Marriott Hotel.

If approved, Mast Industries would use the facility to transport executives from New York and Logan Airport.

Company spokesmen have said the heliport would not be heavily used, with

Town Celebrates The Fourth Horribly Well

Great Effort

Once again, through the efforts of voluntary Andover resident participation, it was a good old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration in town this year.

The family-oriented affair began early Tuesday morning with breakfast served in the Park and enjoyed by hundreds.

This was followed by what has become a centerpiece of the annual celebration—the Horribles Parade.

For participants and onlookers alike the event was enjoyable and offered some good humor to get the day off to a good start.

Throughout the morning and into the afternoon, there were games and events for youngsters, with a new entry this year, a 'block party,' which enabled youngsters to bring blocks and compete in building various items, bringing about the budding architects of another era.

And what would the Fourth be without a band concert, which the Middlesex Concert Band handled quite well for the eighth consecutive year.

Topping off the program, of course, was the brilliant display of fireworks in the evening at the Eugene V. Lovely Field and witnessed either there or nearby by thousands of people.

We feel confident that Selectman Gerald Silverman, who almost single-handedly kept the annual fireworks display going when budget cuts threatened their appearance a few years ago, was proud of the display.

Mr. Silverman, of course, placed canisters and took up collections to keep the fireworks display going in those difficult years until the town agreeably acceded to fund the annual program.

What seems to be the underlying theme of the annual Fourth celebration, however, is the fact that it is a display of true patriotism in a town known for such.

The overall celebration, save for the municipal financing of the fireworks display, is planned and conducted by volunteers who dedicate themselves and their time to ensuring that the event will be family oriented and pleasing to those who remain at home during the holiday period.

It is a fine effort, and those who again contributed to the program this year are to be commended for their dedication to offering their services to the community.

Just A Thought

By Bob Finneran

It certainly was refreshing over the past holiday weekend, in view of the recent Supreme Court ruling with regard to the burning of the American flag, to see what seemed to be more than the usual display of Old Glory.

The court, of course, said that burning of America's symbol was all right.

But from all appearances, the chief justices were given a message.

Stores selling flags and kits did a brisk business, and if you drove around the area there seemed to be a full proliferation of American flags being displayed proudly.

It was also quite evident that there remains pride in the symbol as various patriotic events were shown on television, with people waving flags, large and small, giving evidence of how they felt about their country, if not specifically about the recent ruling.

Such scenes were portrayed in Boston as the traditional Boston Pops patriotic concert and fireworks display was shown and in Washington, D.C., where the National Symphony Orchestra was in concert with such guests as Pearl Bailey, Peter Nero, Henry Mancini and James Galway paying tribute to the nation's anniversary. Flags dotted the audience, which consisted of hundreds of thousands of people.

A most fitting tribute and an adequate response to the court ruling.

Seems a bit interesting to hear all these complaints about odors in the environment.

There is little doubt that the air is made a bit pungent by the Greater Lawrence Sanitary District Plant in North Andover once in a while.

But things are much better nowadays than they were in the not-too-distant past when there were such things as dumps, low river levels, etc.

Time was when even Andover had a dump that would catch fire from time to time and laden the air with thick, black, acrid smoke. Then the town went to the sanitary landfill method, which would result in the disposed material catching fire underneath the ground, taking considerable time to extinguish.

Lawrence had a combined incinerator and dump that turned into an inferno on a regular basis, thus infecting the area substantially with both smoke and odor.

About this time of year, rivers in the area were at their lowest ebb, thus giving off an aroma roughly comparable to garbage at best.

And, during the height of the textile industry's predominance of the area's economy, the rivers were turned to technicolor with the various dyes poured out of the factories to make their way to the Atlantic Ocean.

DOWN THE YEARS

100 Years Ago — July 1889

A singular fire occurred in the West Parish Wednesday afternoon, destroying the house of Mr. Jesse H. Clark, the old Henry Dane Homestead. Mr. and Mrs. Clark, who have a large company of summer boarders, were away at Haggett's Pond, with their family and guests. They had left the house at 3:30 o'clock. About a quarter before five, some parties from the village passed the house, when everything seemed right. At a quarter past five, Mr. and Mrs. Clark returning saw the smoke of their burning dwelling. The fire was then in the attic. A team was sent to town to give the alarm, and the steamer with hook and ladder responded in good time, and did good service. But the supply of water was insufficient for steady playing and the house was consumed. The shed connecting the house and barn was torn down, and the barn saved. Most of the furniture was got out, although some of it in a damaged condition.

Concert Series

"We're also trying to reach out to the Merrimack Valley community as well. In the concerts we will be providing program notes so people who haven't really had a great deal of classical music experience can come and hear some of this great music and hear what it's all about."

Mr. Thomas, who plays the 'cello, will be performing with his Phillips colleagues in the first concert of the series Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. The program will feature the Haydn String Quartet in C major, Op. 76, No. 4, whose second movement was written in honor of the Austrian emperor. It became the Austrian national anthem.

The Essex Ensemble will also perform Johannes Brahms' Piano Quartet No. 2 in A major, Op. 26.

Besides Mr. Thomas, the ensemble is made up of violinist Gerald Itzkoff, violist Catherine Consiglio and pianist Peter Warsaw. Their concert will be followed by a reception so the audience can meet the people who make the music. "Here we are living in this community," Mr. Thomas said. "We want people to know us as artists and know what we do in a way that serves both the hall and our music."

The chamber music series is slated for five consecutive Fridays. Next week, Friday is Bastille Day and the 200th anniversary of the French Revolution. In keeping with the calendar, musicians will perform an all-French program. It will include Allegro for Flute, Clarinet, Harp and String Quartet by Maurice Ravel and Trio Sonata for Violin, Oboe and Continuo by Jean-Baptiste Loeillet, as well as works by Francis Poulenc and Gabriel Faure.

Old Town Hall is an ideal setting for chamber music, Mr. Thomas said, because of "the room's elegant simplicity and excellent acoustics. The hall is so perfect because it's so intimate. Even though there is a stage, the audience is not very far away."

The town hall is also centrally located and next to easy parking.

"To have a summer's evening downtown is very romantic," he said.

Mr. Thomas said the Essex Ensemble performed last year at Castle Hill in Ipswich. Although "it was musically very successful," he said, the organizers were disappointed with the turnout. Part of that could be the distance, he speculated.

"True enough, Castle Hill has quality music. But Ipswich is a good little trek from here. It might as well be Boston in many respects."

The series is full of surprises, Mr. Thomas said. The Bastille Day concert will introduce newcomers to the harp, and the relatively large octet will perform a Franz Schubert piece July 21. "It is not performed that often because it's difficult to get five string players and three wind players together at one time," Mr. Thomas explained.

The fourth program, on July 28, will include Samuel Barber's Summer Music for wind quintet; works for brass ensemble; and a work by Italian composer Alessandro Scarlatti for solo voice, trumpet and strings.

On Aug. 4, the day of the final concert, soloists accompanied by PA's Festival Chamber Orchestra will perform classical favorites—"great musical works that people know very well, yet don't get the chance to hear live and performed very well," Mr. Thomas said. The musicians will perform familiar works by Georg Handel and J.S. Bach, although the program's not definite yet.

"I really do feel that musically this concert series is unique to the Merrimack Valley," Mr. Thomas said. "There are many exciting and artistic things going on in the Merrimack Valley, but few that are both local and truly professional."

The playground annual field day will be held Wednesday, July 15, at 2:30 p.m. at the Central playground. All of the other playgrounds will be closed the afternoon to allow participation in the many events.

Separate events for boys and girls and in three age groups will be held.

Milk bid specifications, with tightened requirements are this week being submitted to Sidney P. White and Burton Jenkins, before they make up their minds whether or not to withdraw their milk contracts for the coming school year.

The dealers—high but successful bidders for the school milk delivery—had told the School Committee they would carefully inspect any new specifications, before considering a possible voluntary withdrawal.

10 Years Ago — July 1979

Residents of Algonquin Avenue won their request Monday night for traffic signs to restrict traffic flow on their street.

Signs to be requested are: three "Stop" signs, one at each end of Algonquin Avenue and one at the corner of Commanche and Algonquin; three speed limit signs; a "No Right-Hand Turn" sign at the intersection of Algonquin and Iroquois on Algonquin; and a "No Left-Hand Turn" sign at Algonquin and Iroquois on Iroquois.

The trees now ready for harvesting in those areas will be cut and sold, with the profits going to the town's free cash account. Estimated profit from the sale of the timber was $5452.

Recycling

The only restriction placed on the recycled pellets is that they cannot be made into food service articles, said Ms. Hilo. What the plastic can be used for is insulation, wall board, storage containers and other various consumer goods, she said.

The program at the high school is run by the students with the support of Mr. Cayot, Principal Wilbur Hixon and Richard Barron, the head of the school's food service. The school's emphasis was on all-polystyrene plastic products: food trays, plates, coffee and dessert cups, said Mr. Cayot. The Leominster company provided three tray-stacking units for the high school cafeteria.

Each station was attended by a Biology I student who supervised the stacking of the trays. Juniors Michelle Messinger and Joey McLean demonstrated disposal and stacking techniques that got the program off to a great start, said Ms. Hilo.

"The idea behind the stacking units is to eliminate the air from the trash," she said.

On the first day of operation the number of trash bags was reduced from 40 to six. When the garbage trucks went to the high school cafeteria that day the workers were a bit skeptical when they found only six bags to be taken away. They searched for almost 30 minutes to locate the usual 36 remaining bags, said Ms. Hilo.

Starting in the fall, the high school will begin to follow the routine established this school year to reduce the amount of trash in the cafeteria.

Walk Lowell

Bring your walking shoes or bicycle and a picnic snack for an evening exploration of Lowell. "Knapsack Tours" will travel little-known byways to discover canals and rivers, mills and mansions and neighborhoods of the industrial city.

These free family tours are offered on Sunday evenings at 6 through Aug. 20 (excluding July 30). All tours are about two hours in length and depart from the Market Mills Courtyard unless otherwise noted. Space is limited, and reservations are required. For more information contact Lowell National Historical Park, 169 Merrimack St., Lowell.

On July 9, a walking tour called "Top to Bottom: The Northern Canal Experience" will take advantage of a rare opportunity to see the landmark power canal once again at work. Unique views of the Merrimack River will provide a superb backdrop for interpretation of this waterway. Stops include the new hydroelectric plant, the Pawtucket Gatehouse and the Suffolk Mill. Meet in front of the Wannalancit Office and Technology Center on Suffolk St.

Comedies

"Summer Set," two new one-act comedies, "Anna's Brooklyn Promise" by D.K. Oklahoma and "Jerry Finnegan's Sister" by Jack Neary, both Lowell playwrights, will be performed July 14 and 15 at 8 p.m. at Liberty Hall (home of Merrimack Repertory Theatre), 50 East Merrimack St., downtown Lowell.

SPORTING LIFE

Andover Gold Has Bad Week

By Rick Harrison

Andover Gold suffered through the worst week of its existence, as the pitching faltered twice and the defense hastened a third loss.

Gold, now 2-4, dropped consecutive lopsided decisions to Winthrop (14-1), North Andover (14-4) and crosstown rival Andover Blue (10-4).

It marked only the second time in a decade that Andover Babe Ruth/Andover Gold had dropped three consecutive games, and the 38 runs were by far a new record for runs allowed over a three-game period.

Andover Babe Ruth/Andover Gold, unless it can turn things around, is in jeopardy of suffering only its second losing season in the last 25 years.

Gold tried to reverse its fortunes last night when it hosted Lynnfield, tonight AG entertains the Reading Y's Men at Andover High (6 p.m.), and Saturday morning Stoneham plays Gold at Andover High (10 a.m.).

Andover Blue, 10-4

Andover Gold wasted another excellent pitching performance by lefthander Scott Eggert (1-1), who was victimized by seven infield errors that led to seven unearned Blue runs.

Andover Blue produced some impressive basehits in clutch situations, but on almost every occasion Gold errors paved the way to unearned runs.

Blue was protecting a slim 2-1 advantage in the fifth when Gold committed four errors, opening the gates for five Blue runs and a 7-1 advantage.

Gold rallied briefly with three runs in the bottom of the inning, but Blue responded with three more in the sixth against reliever Todd Murray.

Eggert yielded six hits in his five inning stint. Once again he did not walk a batter, stretching his streak without issuing a walk to 14 innings. He also did not strike anyone out.

Matt Daniels set Blue down 1-2-3 in the seventh.

Justin Hesenius was the complete-game winning pitcher for Blue, permitting just four singles, walking five and fanning just one.

Gold took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first when leadoff batter Mike Sullivan singled, stole second, and scored when Jim Landry's sacrifice bunt produced a wild throw.

foot sacrifice fly to straightaway centerfield.

Winthrop parlayed three singles and three walks into four runs in the bottom of the inning, and added five more in the second with Dana Cellucci's bases-loaded triple the key stroke.

Gold threatened in the top of the second when Rick Saggese doubled and Mike Daley singled. But a runner was doubled off second on a flyball out to end the inning.

Winthrop upped the lead to 10-1 in the third, and in the fourth AG left the bases loaded after Mark Hopkinson singled, Saggese singled and Jim Hanning was hit by a pitch.

Winthrop, which added a run in the fourth and three in the sixth, turned its second and third doubleplays of the contest to abort Gold rallies in the sixth and seventh.

Hopkinson and Saggese paced the nine-hit Gold offense with 2-for-3 efforts, while singles were contributed by Mike Sullivan, John Shea and Scott Eggert.

Pitching well in brief one-inning relief stints were 14-year-old righthanders Mike Famiglietti and Todd Murray.

Rightfielder Andy Brown made a sensational tumbling catch early in the game.

North Andover, 14-4

The North Andover Chiefs, coached by former Boston Red Sox catcher Jerry Moses, overcame an early 2-0 deficit with a fat seven-run third inning en route to this victory at Andover High.

Once again the Gold pitching was ineffective, four hurlers combining to surrender 10 earned runs.

For the second consecutive game the opposition registered 14 runs on 11 hits, and the nine walks gave AG pitchers 17 in the two games after only six in the first three contests.

Gold scored once in the first when Mike Sullivan belted a one-out triple and Matt Daniels singled him across.

Mike Daley opened the second with a single, stole second base, and rode home on Scott Eggert's double to centerfield.

North Andover then batted around in the third, scoring seven runs, and the Chiefs added three more in the top of the fourth to make it 10-2.

Gold notched a run in the fourth on a leadoff single by Rick Saggese and two-out triple from Scott Eggert.

In the sixth Mike Daley reached second on a throwing error and scored on Andy Brown's opposite-field single.

North Andover wrapped up its attack with a run in the sixth and three more in the seventh.

Once again Gold managed nine hits, Scott Eggert leading the way with a near-cycle single, double and triple (3-for-3).

John Shea also contributed a double, his fifth hit in the last seven at-bats, and Todd Murray yielded just one hit and one unearned run in two frames of relief.

Catcher Matt Daniels once again was a defensive standout behind the plate, gunning down North Andover's only would-be basestealer and picking another runner off second base with a rifle throw.

Heroes

The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is conducting its annual search for heroic people and animals for its 1989 awards ceremony scheduled for Oct. 12 at the Marriott Hotel in Newton.

The Animal Hero Award will be presented to an animal who has shown remarkable loyalty and/or bravery on behalf of one or more humans or animals.

The Human Hero Award will be presented to a person or persons who have gone above and beyond the call of duty to save the life or significantly promote the welfare of one or more animals.

Anyone knowing of a person or animal that qualifies for an award should send a letter or newspaper clipping by Aug. 15 to Mal McCunney, MSPCA, 350 South Huntington Avenue, Boston, MA 02130.

Blue Roars To League Lead

Andover Blue roared into first place of the Suburban Pony League with four more victories, Winthrop 15-7, North Andover 3-1, Lynnfield 12-3 and Andover Gold 10-4, behind the solid defense and strong pitching performances of Justin Hesenius and Kevin Murphy.

The team is showing good depth with three starters, Ben Russell, Bob Sheehan and Gus Quattlebaum, out with injuries. Their 6-0 record puts them in first place and on track to repeat as league champions.

Andover Blue 10 - Andover Gold 4

Justin Hesenius fired a complete game four-hitter and Blue lashed 10 hits combined with two sacrifices and two stolen bases with a 10-4 win against cross-town rival Gold.

Blue scored single runs in the third and fourth to take the lead as Josh Nelkin and Paul Allard each had an RBI. The third inning featured defensive gems as Allard ran down a fly ball and Matt Harris blocked a hard grounder with his chest and recovered the ball in time to throw the runner out at first. The Blue scored eight runs on six hits in the fifth and sixth innings. Brian Novelline, Hesenius and Allard led the attack. Defensive stars were Harris at shortstop, Chris Lembo at third and Chris Sintros in left field.

Andover 15 - Winthrop 7

Andover Blue banged out 16 hits, including two triples and four doubles to accompany seven stolen bases en route to a 15-7 win over new league entry Winthrop. The Blue scored seven runs in the second inning. Barring stars were Harris, Quattlebaum and Toby Guzowski, who each went three for four, and Matt Wolcott, two for two. Nelkin knocked in three runs while Quattlebaum, Hesenius, Brian Novelline and Guzowski each had two RBIs. Hesenius was the winning pitcher boosting his record to 2-0. He gave up only one hit in four innings and had relief help from Brian Novelline and Jeff Lembo.

Andover 3 - North Andover 1

Kevin Murphy faced only 28 batters and struck out five in a superb no-hit pitching performance for his second win of the season. He allowed only five runners to reach base and only four balls were hit out of the infield. The Blue's defense was excellent with outfielders Steve Shepard, Allard and Brian Novelline making four outstanding catches and the infield of Chris Lembo, Harris, Nelkin and Quattle-

An assortment of Ben's exquisite pastries

Ben's Canty Kitchen

Cookout season is here again and Ben's Canty Kitchen has added some tempting recipes to his extensive menu. New offerings include shishkebobs of swordfish, sirloin tips and chicken with an unique Oriental seasoning. Ben will cater cookouts with an open grill and take care of all the details, including menu planning, setup, cooking and cleanup. Ben is known for his "service with a smile".

Ben's Canty Kitchen is located at the well known site that Canty Kitchen occupied for twenty-five years in North Andover. Leonard G. Beninato (Ben) took over three years ago, after many years experience in Boston, the Hilltop Steakhouse and Kitty's in North Reading. He is dedicated to preparing the finest foods available with his delicious special seasonings for takeout. All ingredients are fresh and all items on the menu are homemade on the premises.

Ben's is famous for its chicken BBQ, consisting of a fresh bulky roll filled with shredded chicken breast, his special mayonnaise recipe, lettuce and BBQ sauce. It is especially popular with the diet and health conscious customers. Other specialties include chicken soup, haddock fish chowder, Italian veal cutlet, calzone, baked beans, subs, mini pastries and newly added pizza with the choice of eleven toppings. All are prepared with care and enhanced with Ben's special ingredients.

Ben's also offers catering service, from an intimate dinner for two to an elegant buffet for two hundred. He is available for advice on the menu, will work within your budget whether modest or unlimited, will deliver and set-up. Popular menus include homemade Florentine chicken soup, haddock fish chowder, appetizer tray, baked stuffed shells or ravioli, veal cutlet, baked stuffed lobster with lobster filling, stuffed eggplant, rollatini, chicken quillini, stuffed artichokes and stuffed shrimp Margarita. Ben is well known for his exquisite deserts, including mini cream pastries, banana and strawberry cream tarts, mini neapolitans, sfogliatelli, cannolis and pasticciotti. All dishes, from the simple to the ultimate cuisine, are artistically presented.

Ben's Canty Kitchen is located at 127 Waverly Road, North Andover (125 to Mass. Ave., left to Waverly Rd, right on Waverly Rd). Telephone: 686-6991. R.C. Bernal

Subdivision

But the report showed that any flooding increase during average rainfall would be negligible, said Paul Ferrante, engineer for Dana Perkins and Associates. Any increases during a worst-case 100-year storm would be impossible to measure, he added.

The neighbors, who filled the town hall meeting room, weren't reassured by his explanation.

Barbara Fogg of 50 Summer St. said she was nervous because "you can't foresee the ultimate effect (heavy rainfall) will have on our property."

Ferrante emphasized that flooding "would be no different than what you're getting now...we've tried everything we can" to mitigate additional runoff from the project.

"We know you've tried hard," said Kirk Moul, 6 Washington Ave., "but it's results we're interested in."

The developer also asked for 15 waivers from town regulations, including easing a requirement for a 40-foot wide road to 20 feet and allowing a 6-inch water pipe instead of the mandated 8 inches.

The property is owned by the Bruk and Dearborn families, who have split the project into two sections, each holding two homes. Waiver relief was requested because of the small amount of traffic and utility use in each section.

Other waiver requests include:

- No fire pole boxes;
- No additional plantings;
- Underground electric lines;
- No sidewalks;
- No looping water main or paved road turnaround;
- No further road topographical profiles other than what is shown on the current definitive plan.

"We believe at this time that the subdivision meets all legal requirements except for those areas that require a waiver," said Mr. Ferrante.

Other than a few questions asking for clarifications, the board had little comment. However, Chairman Russ Moran said the board would not decide whether to grant approval until hearing from the Conservation Commission and police and fire departments.

The board has until Oct. 7 to make a decision.

baum handling 12 perfect fielding plays. Harris turned six of them himself.

Blue connected for nine hits with two sacrifices and three stolen bases to produce the 3-1 margin of victory. Shephard and Brian Novelline each had two hits with Novelline belting a triple and scoring two runs. Harris added a double and Murphy had a sacrifice and his first Pony League hit. Lembo (one RBI), Allard and Quattlebaum (game-winning RBI), smashed singles.

Andover 12 - Lynnfield 3

The Blue cashed in on 10 hits, including five extra basehits with five walks, two sacrifices and two stolen bases. Harris had a single, double and triple and Shephard three safeties. Jeff Lembo and Andy Novelline had their first Pony League hits.

In the third inning, Blue executed a perfect delayed steal of home with Harris on third and Hesenius on first, Harris got caught in a rundown. Harris broke for home and scored while Hesenius scrambled out of the rundown reaching second base safely. Hesenius, Harris and Chris Lembo turned in outstanding defensive plays, but none were better than Andy Novelline's stab of a smash down the third baseline and his throw to nip the runner at first.

In the fifth Nelkin dove to stop a shot up the middle and threw the runner out. Chris Sintros ended the game with an outstanding catch of a sinking line drive to left field.

Kevin Murphy improved his pitching record to 3-0, yielding only three hits in five innings. Chris Lembo finished the last two innings, striking out three batters and allowing only one hit.

flights limited to a few trips per week.

Other appeals going before the ZBA tonight include an application from Warren Maddox, Jr. of Derry, N.H., who is asking the board to overturn a building inspection department decision to deny a permit to build a single-family home on a River Road vacant lot.

The department ruled that plans for the home do not meet town regulations requiring 90 percent uplands on the property.

• Doyle Lumber Co. Inc. is petitioning the ZBA to allow a free-standing sign that exceeds size limits set by zoning bylaws.

• David Adilman, 15 Foster Pond Road, is asking for a variance from zoning bylaws to build a deck onto his home.

The plans currently do not meet minimum setback requirements and do not have frontage on a public way.

Keep It Kleen—Professional Car Cleaners

Owners Frank Gortot and Russ Kauffman have earned an excellent reputation for their expertise as car cleaners and the meticulous attention they pay to detail. They had been in business for two and a half years before moving to their new efficient location in North Reading.

Keep It Kleen's specialty is automobile detailing, a new concept of professional car care. This intense detailed cleaning enhances and prolongs the car's attractiveness. This bumper-to-bumper facelift also increases the car's trade-in value. The detailing process entails four steps: washing, compounding and multi-coat waxing, interior shampooing and leather/vinyl treatment. Each car requires between four to six hours to complete the job.

Keep It Kleen will do anything from removing a simple stain to complete detailing. They will do Scotchguarding, pinstripping and moldings. They scrub all rubber and plastic, remove all lint and dust from dashboard, spot clean headliner, shampoo all fabric, clean and condition all leather, rubber and plastic and clean each individual vent. They use the finest McGuire premium products and have just purchased a high tech carpet and fabric steam cleaner which leaves the car dry after the process.

They are dedicated to the finest automobile detailing and educating the public on the maintenance. Each car receives the "white glove" treatment at Keep It Kleen.

Keep It Kleen is located at 197 Main Street, North Reading, on the left side of Kitchen Sales. Hours are 8:00 to 6:00 Monday through Friday. Appointments are suggested. Evening hours may be arranged. Telephone: (508) 664-0122. R.C. Bernal Big Tom Tanin went 6-for-6, belted a pair of homers and drove in seven runs, while Dana McCann had three hits in the opener and tossed a complete-game five-hitter in the clincher, as the American League Red Sox successfully defended their Andover Little League Town Championship by sweeping the National League Cardinals in their recent best-of-3 series at Deyermund Park.

The Sox won the first game 7-5 in seven innings, then coasted to a 10-2 victory to secure the title.

This marked an unprecedented third straight showdown between the twin powers for town supremacy. In 1987 the Cards nipped the Red Sox in three games, and last year the Sox swept by almost the same scores in reverse order (9-2 and 6-5).

Manager Joe Iarrobino's Sox finished the '89 season with a 15-4 overall record, winning their final nine games including three during the final week of the regular campaign to overtake the Twins.

Manager Red Harris' Cardinals closed at 16-3, having entered the Town series riding a 12-game win streak following an early loss to the Mets.

The Cards cruised to first place in the NL uncontested, while the Red Sox struggled to win both halves in the highly-competitive AL.

"We only had three kids returning from last year's team, so I wasn't quite sure what to expect," said Iarrobino. "And I never expected this."

The Sox tied the Indians for top spot during the first half, then won the title by nudging the Tribe 5-4 in their first meeting of the second half.

The Sox were upset by the upstart White Sox early in the second half, and trailed the unbeaten Twins by 1½ games going into the final week.

The Twins faltered, however, bowing to the White Sox and then dropping a 1-0 heartbreaker to the Red Sox as Dana McCann fired a two-hit shutout to out-duel Rick Mendez who countered with a three-hitter (the only run came in the bottom of the sixth).

The Red Sox completed their late rush by blasting the Indians (12-6) and Orioles (16-6), earning a third consecutive berth opposite the Cards.

Red Sox, 7-5

The archrivals met once during the regular season, on opening day, and the Cardinals gave the Sox a forearm shiver, 13-7.

Iarrobino played a hunch and threw his No. 2 pitcher, lefty Ryan Jacobson, against Cards' ace Todd Harris in the opener.

That decision was solidified when Sox' catcher Ted Whitman came up sick, forcing No. 1 hurler Dana McCann to go behind the plate.

Jacobson came through by scattering seven Cards' safeties over the first six innings, walking two, whiffing six and yielding three runs.

Todd Harris permitted five hits, walked two, fanned eight and surrendered three runs as well for the NL champs.

Little League rules stipulate that pitchers must be removed after six innings in a tie game.

Eleven-year-old southpaw Howie Schlichting got the call for the Sox in the seventh, while the Cards countered with Justin Connors.

The Red Sox produced four runs in the top of the extra inning, the Cards could manage only two in the home half, and Schlichting walked away the winner and owner of a perfect 4-0 record.

The Sox scored twice in the first when McCann doubled to right-centerfield, and six-footer Tom Tanin belted a two-out, two-run homer to left.

It marked the eighth homerun of the season for the Andover Little League's most prolific long ball artist.

The Cards retaliated with a run in the bottom half as Todd Harris clouted his NL-high sixth homerun to the same spot.

In the Red Sox' third Dana McCann singled, Ryan Jacobson bunted him to second, and Tanin laced an RBI double to the left-centerfield gap.

The Cards pulled even 3-3 moments later on RBI singles from Harris and Paul Cassidy. Harris' hit rescued Matt Blake who walked and advanced on a wild pitch.

The Red Sox ended the inning with a strange double-play. A bunt was laid down and the batter thrown out at first base. The runner then tried to go to third, and when the throw got away he broke for home plate but was caught in a rundown between catcher Dana McCann and third baseman Ryan Martin.

The Cards had a chance to win it in the fifth, as Todd Harris reached on a fielder's choice and Pat Cassidy singled. But, with runners at first and third Jacobson bore down to whiff the next two batters.

The Sox snapped the 3-3 tie in the top of the seventh when Eric Danis doubled, Tim McGovern spanked an RBI single, Dana McCann ripped an RBI double, and run-producing singles were smacked by Jacobson and Tanin.

The Cardinals fought back in the bottom of the seventh, but the rally fell short. Harris drilled a one-out double, Cassidy singled him home, and Cassidy crossed after a passed ball and throwing error on Jeff Hesenius' infield out.

Schlichting made it official by striking out the final batter.

Tom Tanin went 3-for-3 and walked one, Dana McCann was 3-for-4 with two doubles, and Howie Schlichting contributed a single.

Cassidy paced the Cards with 4-for-4, all singles, while Harris added three hits and Scott Nicholson singled.

Andover celebrates the Fourth of July with a bang. Town residents concluded the festivities with a gala fireworks display over the high school's Eugene V. Lovely Field Tuesday night.

Defensive standouts in the opener were Sox' pitcher Ryan Jacobson and second baseman Tim McGovern, along with Cardinals' third baseman Dave Schaeffer and second sacker Matt Blake.

Red Sox, 10-2

A nine-run explosion in the second inning, plus the steady pitching of Dana McCann, carried the Red Sox to the title-clinching triumph.

McCann, who pitched virtually every tough game for the Sox this season, finished 7-2 following this clutch five-hitter. He walked four and struck out two.

The Cards' pitching tandem of Dave Schaeffer and Joe Hogarty combined to allow 10 hits.

The Sox actually spotted the Cardinals a 1-0 lead in the first as Pat Cassidy drew a one-out walk, stole second and scored on Matt Blake's single.

Seven players participated in all three Town Championship series between the teams. The four Cardinals were Todd Harris, Pat Cassidy, Matt Blake and Jeff Hesenius, and the three Red Sox Tim McGovern, Dana McCann and Ryan Jacobson.

Joe Iarrobino has made public his intention to leave Little League coaching after six years with the Red Sox, while there is also a strong possibility Red Harris will step down as the Cardinals' manager.

Assistant coaches for the Sox were Nick Lembo and Neil McGovern, while John Murphy and Howie Schaeffer were the Cards' assistants.
